brutal - the big picture is so cruel to us and everyone's life is such a tiny speck the worst atrocities can pass. fifty miles away to no effect

power. power
has always been abused work. debt. poverty. taxes life's oppressive rules
power. power
just might never change no answers will come from our bloodthirsty ways let's take the night off from mental stress let's take the night off - this world's a mess captive - held captive by our hopes and dreams our best intentions can destroy us we shouldn't grind ourselves away take a break. we need to maintain commiserating has run it's course we'll save the world tomorrow we'll have to wait until that day we'll wait. we'll wait but in the meantime let's celebrate that we don't give a fuck let's celebrate that we don't care

with the middle finger high in the air
take the night off. pass the buck
