Love comes, love goes,
But a sudden feeling never lets me be
Somehow, i know,
Quite a part of me isn't changed since you've been gone
Like a sturdy tree that's seen a thousand seasons
I've to shed my leaves in winter
And grow them back in spring
To welcome life again
To welcome you
So goes, my life
Still believe in dreams of having you around
Too bad, memories feed the mind and not the heart
Where i want you to be,
So i ask myself what you've left behind for me
To go on each day and live as if
I have you once again
What else is there that's real
But all the pain that i feel,
Chorus:
So let the pain remain
Forever in my heart
For every throb it brings is one more moment
Spent with you,
I let the pain, bring on the rain
If that's the only way
If there's no other way
To be with you again
Too bad memories, feed the mind and not the heart
Where i want you to be
So i ask myself what you've left behind for me
To go on each day
And live as if i have you once again
What else is there that's real
But all the pain that i feel
(chorus 2x)
