no trojan or roman soldiers could infiltrate the borders of my hood thats what the court orders to prevent romantic torture no mortars could destroy the measures Ive employed to aviod emotional choice so now I'm null and void oh boy no joy is what I have they say just take a chance but I'm closed in like a dam
'cause my heart is torn and cracked her key is in my hands
as she asks me for a dance but sorry I'll have to pass I can't even return her glance I've made a mistake
but it's probably too late to play the game that I'd forsake just in case

I'm the lone survivor
in a world of zombies and vampires who want my blood, she wants your blood they want our blood

He guards the key to his heart for insurance
torn apart, ripped apart
but he deserves it
she needs the key to his heart reassurance
does he dare reserve it
she deserves him

hes had enough
of this stuff
they call love
fill his cup
coke and rum
on the rocks
he goes numb

on the docks
of his thoughts
heart is crossed
he hopes to die
she can see it in his eyes
tonight
but can he survive
the twists and turns
shes so concerned
she wants him as hers
but his heart is burned
and it's worse
than she thought
as they talk
palm in palm
his grip is strong
though cold and gone
what a loss
what a bomb
was the cause
of his cardiac shock
that made him block
all the talk
of he is hot
or if hes not
then continue to walk
its all the same
in the end no change
no personal gain
cause hes so afraid
to unlock his chains
she feels feint
in his wake
as she takes
another look into his face
the onset hate
distilled by pain
what a waste
of a pretty face
his soul gets away
on a plane
in another dimension
where love is friendship
his loves not finished
she gets her wish then
