[Bronze Nazareth] I know I said I'd love you but damn I'm just a man Or never was a man, enough to hold your little hand Or walk with your mother, she labels me gutter Cuz I came from it can't relapse, shutter cuz the pain runneth You wanted water from a rock Blood from a turnip And now you turn up, bleeding from the forcep While at my door slept opportunity too unsoothing to fool with me now you look and drool at me like I'm wearing Satan's horns and jewelry what happened to that smile, 32 teeth calcium, iron pills cuz you don't eat don't grow, so we don't sleep unless we sleep together, meet the weather stormy forever, pleasure brings much pain I know you hate me from pits of your brain but numb it stays like novacaine cause you never came, into the iron hills of pain yo you can loathe me, God'll put it in frame [Bronze Nazareth] In lifes blurry scenes, the sound of the city became my only screams night child, cement blocks were my smile looking up at the bottom like this shits hell when it hits well, bricks sale I'll take two vials, see if it sits well poison in hand, this is a man's limit sat at the corner of nowhere, my heart wasn't in it that's why the beat stopped I'm like, please God help me, cause I'm losin it Forgot to pray last night, but its not doing shit I'll probably learn secret books from now How my many questions he gave a look somehow Cause as I sat thru the inferno of abortion Family calamity, his triple beams and gram tossin I sat alone, brick walls the kids home Her belly's smaller, but my sins well has much grown Just like her pelvis bones, I loved somebody who aint love me back too Nigga it wasn't just you!!!! And when I wandered life looking for your home that one set of footprints, I proabably did walk alone
