Vs1 You get up thinkin' that you're that
You're never goinna make it through the day.
Black cup of coffee and you try not to see her face...
But she's on your mind,
And it really hurts sometimes,
She's gone, but she never goes away.

Chorus

She's in your heart,
She's left her mark,
You might as well forget,
About forgettin' her.
You can't fight the night,
Or the love that holds so tight,
You never should have let it go so far,
But it's too late now,
She's in your heart,
It's too late now
She's in your heart.

Vs2 Workin days over,
And you stop off at the usual place.
You take a bottle and a glass,
To the corner table and there you stay.
You drink to remember,
And you drink to forget,
She's gone,
But it's just not over yet...

Chorus

She's in your heart,
She's made her mark,
You might as well forget,
About forgetting her.
You can't fight the night,
Or the love that holds so tight,
You never should have let it go so far,
It's too late now,
She's in your heart,
It's too late now, she's in your heart.
