Darling I want to make the word love coz it's been said so many times
And I don't wanna use that old pick up line
And oft' I try to find the words to use but non capture the way I feel
When I gaze at your smile it seems like I'm out flying a sunset skylight
You've stolen my eyes I stare at what I can't describe

Look in my eyes
It's not hard to realize
I'm the one who loves you
And though you'll never know my heart, my complete feelings
Just konw you'll never be alone

Words keep cluterring in my mind as I persist in this futility
But no vocabulary could ever represent the beauty I see You're everything and more that I could want you to be An in your face what do I see?

It's like a rainbow in my mind
Like when the daylight starts to die
Just like a landcape catching rain or like a snow glazed mountain face
Like Charlie Chaplin
Like clapping one hand
My love cannot be heard
And all those love song they come out all wrong coz there is no such words
My Annie

Look in my eyes
It's not hard to realize
And though you'll never kow my heart, my full emotions
Just know you'll never be alone
My Annie
