SONG:My Emmeleine (That's no lie)

Performed by Errol Brown

I saw your face in a magazine your smile just like the sun brings back all the times gone by when our love began

I never knew the true , until you were gone

I'll never find another you this world just not the same each and every thought of you still fills my heart with pain

Oh my Emmeleine , star of my silver screen

Oh my Emmeleine !

No that's no lie, there's nothing new this broken heart of mine still missing you, so that's no shame , no one to blame no one can ever take the place of you

I read your letter all the time and all the things you say bring back that cold December night you took your life away

How to live I never knew in this world without you

You had the face of a beauty queen you were my movie star you were the best I've ever seen the very best by far!

No that's no lie , there's nothing more and nothing left for me worth leaving for

without you life will never be the same

No that's no lie, I'm missing you this broken heart of mine still loving you

so that's no shame, no one to blame

My Emmeleine...!
