I'm entertained by the tales from shadows
Shot of life in a blinding light
Whispering through the ghostly windows
Telling me that there is no fright
They are the ghosts of warriors and kings
Who faded into darkness
Shadows know of forgotten words
And the treasures that the words reveal
Reveals the path to powers
All the wisdom is much too real
The kings tell of lost empires
The heroes talk of beasts they've slain
The warriors speak of battles
The memories still remain
No one, no one lives forever
Hope well die together
Justify yourself before the end
No one, no one lives forever
Know well die together
Justify yourself on judgement day before God
I wish to join them in the shadows
Hear the stories of the days gone by
Come alive each and every evening
Blacked shaped by a moon in the sky
Up from the ground they come from the past
The phantoms lives are frightening
Shadows know of forgotten words
And the treasures that the words reveal
Reveals the path to powers
All the wisdom is much too real
The kings tell of lost empires
The heroes talk of beasts they've slain
The warriors speak of battles
The memories still remain
No one, no one lives forever
Hope well die together
Justify yourself before the end
No one, no one lives forever
Know well die together
Justify yourself on judgement day before God
No one, no one lives forever
Hope well die together

Justify yourself before the end
No one, no one lives forever
Know well die together
Justify yourself on judgement day before God
No one... forever
I hope well die together
No one... forever
No one lives forever
