And now, my son
Open thine eyes wide to behold
On yer crusade
Thou have become infidel thyself

In the times of my youth
The spirit spoke to me
Pay heed and hear the truth
The signs art here to see

Courses of stars unscroll'd
For those who art yiel'd
The sight of time unpass'd
And the roar of battlefield

Hark ye mortal, thou who art yield
Bring forth for all mankind to hear
Forth for all of the circle of the earth
These prophecies nine

Hark mankind enthralleth
False images of god
I shall reveal the crownless symbols
Of damned unfold'd

Behold, mankind enthralleth
Beneath the wrath divine
The signs of unenthron'd
Under the stormy skies

Hark mankind enthralleth
So glorious in arms
Yiel for the unenthroneth
In darkness so profound

And the crowd did's't nought
But mockery

Behold, mankind enthralleth
Beneath the wrath divine
The signs of unenthron'd
Under the stormy skies

There is nine betrayed kings
And war for their revenge
There is nine of prophecies
Under the oath of silence

Whence the sun approach'd
The western end of the world
My oath of darkness was filleth

And now whence the war is raging
And banners darkens the skies
See the unenthroned arriving
As all of the battlefield dies

So dreadful to behol'd
As the spirit turned to me
The darkness was unfold'd
O' propheter, it's me

And now whence the war is raging
