

Silentium

"The Wraith At The Shore"

Visit "The Wraith At The Shore" on MotoLyrics.com

Prudence:] my heart is unyielding I am his but alone yet so full of longing awaits whilst he is gone

[Scoria:] hark, such a lovely thing. I can grant you eternal beauty

[Prudence:] who's there? Who?

[Scoria:] join me

[Prudence:] where are you!?! Are you an angel of god?
Show thyself!

[Scoria:] I can give you infinite wisdom and power you can not imagine

[Prudence:] what are you? None godly creatures speaks thus!

[Scoria:] I can grant your every dream

[Prudence:] my dreams will follow my betrothed Antracon

[Scoria:] Antracon!...is weak, mere mortal and this ocean parts you from him

I can grant you...eternity

[Prudence:] one dawn with my beloved Antracon is more precious than infinity without him. My soul is his [Scoria:] more is the pity for such a waste [Prudence:] your words are wasted on me, wraith. My heart is full and unyielding!

[Scoria:] I shall claim your soul

Visit Silentium page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.