All night
Living for the love of the land
Champagne is waiting
To chill me right down to the bone
There's a light in my life
But it fades so far from home

All day
I'm coming from so far away
Those hot summer evenings
Have got me believing again
And I know that this feeling
Will always stay the same

All night
Driving the stars to the cold morning light
To be all right
Knowing the city is right out of sight

All right!
I'm driving through the heat of the night
Get over the hill
And I see there's a light at my window
But then just as the warm summer wind blows

Can this have been
Just a flickering scene
In a motorway dream
I can see that I'll be
Alright

All night
Driving the stars to the cold morning light
To be all right
Knowing the city is right out of sight
