When Suzy bought the Dansette
The world was bright and gay
Pop was just a simple song
Not like it is today
We doffed our hats to Larry
On our summer holiday
In dreams of magic moments
As young lovers run away

Oh where did they go
Years that seemed so slow
Elvis was the king
Oh boy, I wanna sing
A member of the T.T.D.C.
Takes his music seriously

Oh where did they go
Years that seemed so slow
P.J. stole the show
On Ready Steady Go
And plastic lies to tell the tale
About the sound that never failed

Well I've still got the Dansette
But Suzy's gone away
It's ten years since I've seen her
I'd forgotten anyway
But now and then I take a trip
And put a platter on
To relieve all the memories
That music made so strong

Bring back the memories
That music has made so strong
Bring back the memories
That music has made so strong...
