Silent faces mouthing at me
I can't hear a word they say
But I get the message
And I don't think I belong today

Empty places echoing past
All I have to do is close my eyes
I can't tell which is now
And which was then

Give me what I cry for
What I would have gladly died for
Take me to the young years that I loved
I've made the last connection
And my path has changed direction
I'm thinking like I did when I was young

Too complicated, can't stop to think
I've lost the meaning of simplicity
The basic joys of life
No longer interest me

Give me what I cry for
What I would have gladly died for
Take me to the young years that I loved
I've made the last connection
And my path has changed direction
I'm thinking like I did when I was young
