what do you regret your conscience wont forget you're like a letter with a body but your heart is absent i have a secret
i hope you never tell my defenses fell
oh well, one time

you do so good for all of your life and then u fuck up yeah and then you fuck up what do you do when the clock runs out of time take another breath and sigh my self-confidence is paved in the cements outside with a big red heart and our names carved inside of it the photograph is faded and now we're separated goodbye

just can't let go and then you break up and then you make up and then you break up please be still my heart and sigh

i tell myself it's cool please be still my heart and sigh don't throw your quills at me you little porcupine
