shut your eyes and pretend this is the part it first began and your doing it doing it again
the color of me the way you are crayon box superstar

ending it before it starts like you knew it would rip your heart apart

we wrote our names in wet cement our vow forever carved in it and were trying to start it off again on the right foot the closer we come the further we are
crayon box superstar

had a feeling you were seeing someone new got a letter said "let's just be friends" too bad it had to be this way toushay

now close your eyes and count to ten cause this is the part before the end i wont say names you know who you are and now you're really high like a star
