when were you ever waiting ever after you smile the same as always even after a big fight was it a mud ride you sing to your shoulder even after an evening of mine

what are you watching
hope it will make up
hope it will take a little time
for the same one as before when were you ever making up your taking too much time we're in the line up lining up the lines cant you read it until you break the news you'll only break the ice

and while you're waiting why don't you take a little time do you do it to yourself sometimes do you wake up to your real life do you go through it when do you realize

your real eyes
