Little darling, you stand out in a crowd
You're laughing and talking much too loud
'Cause little tear through your smile is peaking through
It takes one to know one and I know you

It takes one to know one and I know you
These little tear through your smile I see through You've been hurt and you're frightened and you're so
blue
It takes one to know one and I know you

Little darling won't you please hold of my hand
You can go right on and cry, I'll understand
But pay no mind if I start crying too
It takes one to know one and I know you

It takes one to know one and I know you
These little tear through your smile I see through
You've been hurt and you're frightened and you're so
It takes one to know one and I know you
It takes one to know one and I know you
