You come on strong with a great big smile
But your teeth are as sharp as a crocodile You promised me the moon and the stars and the sun But you never did nothin' for anyone Can't look me in the face or straight in the eye I'd buy the movie rights to your alibi
I wonder how long you will go I wonder how high your head will blow
You're a psychopathic liar
Your soul is on fire You're bluffin' with nuthin'
While the stakes are gettin' higher
Why trust you
You never made a dream come true
Why trust you
Give me one good reason, one good reason why
You come to me all teary-eyed With your big tall tale way up in the sky Begging on your knees for another chance But everybody knows that's a song and a dance There used to be a time when you were the best You had the fastest tongue in the west Ya gave a look and a line like nobody else You'd try to sell the Bible to the Devil, himself
You sadistic little liar

You're walkin' on the wire You're bluffin' up with nothin'
And the bills are gettin' higher
Why trust you
Give me one good reason, one
good reason why
Trust you
The noose is getting tighter Your face is turning whiter You can stuff it up your muffin and go stick it in the fire
Why trust you
You never made a dream come
Why trust you, give me one good reason, one good reason Why trust you, you never made a dream come true
Why trust you, give me one good
reason, one good reason
Why trust you, why trust you
Why trust you, why trust you
Why trust you
