To whom it may concern

There's a lesson

the ones in charge should learn

Had a story to tell

Oh well, farwell

All will pay

for those who disobey

All will pay

for the rest of your life

If the world is burning down

you'll figure out

who you can count on

When it all comes back around

It's a slap in the face

for you to erase this fate

It is too late now

Time has clicked away

for us to help

It's become quite a show

Who wins

Who knows

All will pay
for those who disobey
All will pay
for the rest of thier lives
If the world is burning down
who you can count on
When it all comes back around
for you to erase this fate
All your problems could have solved them
It's all over now Let your egos cover your souls
still with time to burn
When the world is burning down You'll figure out who you can count on
When the world is burning down
You'll figure out who you can count on
When it all comes back around
This fate...
