How do you make believe

How do you even sleep

With the devil and the burden on your back

No need for apologies

You're hands not where it should be

Does a mirror bring yourself back to reality

Farewell to you my dear

I hope you can find your way from here

One last time

What did you see in him

To make you turn away

what did he see in you

What makes your head spin around and what keeps your feet on the ground

You're like the angel of the gods of misery

Your black heart pours on everything

Your lifeless eyes never see

They're just a doorway to the hell you've made in me

Don't get me wrong

I know you'll be fine

when your heart's away from mine

I'd love to hear you tell me tonight

One last time

What did you see in him

To make you turn away

what did he see in you

Was it worth the time you spent hiding all the evidence

Do you think I'm oblivious

To a love that has turned to dust

What did you see in him

To make you turn away

what did he see in you
