Have I experience the worst of this
Impending battlefield inside me?
Could I be empty
Could I make believe that it's not me?
Oh I believe
That through all recent memory
I've held this in my hands
Though I may never understand

Take these keys
Just drive me
And we might make it out of here tonight
Let's go anywhere that feels new
Where I can taste it in the air
What would it mean to you?

Years down and days through
Signs pass by like pain
I'll take them with me too
And I could fall
Or redefine myself
My god if nothing else
I might finally feel
Something worth the feeling of
These lights up on the stage
And I'll take you to that place with me

Take these keys
Just drive me
And we might make it out of here tonight
Let's go anywhere that feels new
Where I can taste it in the air
What would it mean to you
If I were like somebody else?
Someone who feels alive
Somebody who just goes with what
They feel inside
How do I speak of things that I may never even have?
Can I make myself that man?
Or could I die believing?

I might die believing
