you and I we both know, that the fireworks are gone still she wants me to feel, she's leading my hands for touching her there

Nailed to the floor now my love, lover you lay down yourself all that she asks I will do, I'm down on my knees, and I'm down in the hole

Where she's carving the pain in the chest of the ones that she loves she's carving the pain in the chest of the ones that she
loves

its not to far from here, where she wants me to go its where she takes of her dress, where I shiver like fear and I tremble like cold

loves
she's carving the pain in the chest of the ones that she
loves
she's carving the pain in the chest of the ones that she
loves
she's carving the pain in the chest of the ones that she
loves

still she wants me to feel, she's leading my hands for

loves
she's carving the pain in the chest of the ones that she
loves
she's carving the pain in the chest of the ones that she
loves
she's carving the pain in the chest of the ones that she
loves
she's carving the pain in the chest of the ones that she
loves

loves
