Such cold and dark night and yet she came down
To bring me shelter from evil ones
Her shivering light must have been there all along
It haunts me down, it breaks my bones

Oh, oh, oh you better find yourself someone
Who will turn your world around
Oh, oh, oh, you better hide yourself from me
Cuz I will turn your world around

You see this blood that's dried up on my face
You see these knees; they'll never bend for you no
Although I'll die from your fist of rage
Can you see these hands, can you see this face

Oh, oh, oh you better find yourself someone
Who will turn your world around
Oh, oh, oh, you better hide yourself from me
cuz I will turn your world around

Lord come down, they are haunting me
Save me now, for I am drowning myself
It's all around, just ain't no stopping them now
I'll be lost and found, lost and forever gone

Oh, oh, oh you better find yourself someone
Who will turn your world around
Oh, oh, oh, you better hide yourself from me
cuz I will turn your world around
