Across the night
It was the moon that stole my slumber
Across the night
I fell in love with people sleeping

I fell tired, asleep in a golden ocean
Your eyes perspired, a spike in my fascination

I don't mean to make you cry
But this feeling will run right through the night
And I'll only make you cry with these feelings

across the night
it was the moon who stole my slumber
across the night
i fell in love with people sleeping..
across the night..
across the night..
across the night..
i hugged a mans arthritic shoulder

Sleepless, untamed without a leash on the light around me

I don't mean to make you cry
But this feeling will run right through the night

across the night
it was the moon who stole my slumber
across the night
i fell in love with people sleeping..
across the night..
across the night..
across the night..
i hugged a mans arthritic shoulder
i hugged a mans arthritic shoulder..

So let us be married and have another baby Coz I don't wanna be lonely I just wanna be alone Yeh let's just get married shouting baby, baby, babies

"You'll never sleep at all"
But I don't wanna be lonely

Never seen the sunshine
From higher points than sunrise
I don't wanna be lonely
I just wanna be alone
