Troubles, no troubles, on the line, & I can't stand to see you, I can't stand to see you when you're crying at home. Scotch & penicillin, please try Carlton, a cold black maple hanger & husbands on the run I just got back from a dream attack that took me by surprise & in there I met a lady, her name was Shady Sides & she said, "It's been evening all day long, evening all day long & how can something so old be so wrong". Sin and gravity drag me down to sleep to dream of trains across the sea, trains across the sea. Half hours on earth, what are they worth, I don't know. In 27 years I've drunk fifty thousand beers & they just wash against me like the sea into a pier....
