

Steel Flowers

"17th Full Moon"

Visit "17th Full Moon" on MotoLyrics.com

A moonlit night
Music emphasizes every sensation
With the wheels glue to asphalt
I run through the city towards the moon

A sensual woman dances and stares my eyes,
I run away even from friends by now
I must go out, a breath of air
The street calls me again

Someday I'll go all over next way
Somehow I'll take this swine off, here and now...
Someplace I'll read another page
But it's too soon, Seventeenth Full Moon

Yesterday I heard you laughin',
I turned over, she wasn't you.
I can't go on to see you wherever
In every single thing.

Someday I'll go all over next way
Somehow I'll take this swine off, here and now...
Someplace I'll read another page
But it's too soon, Seventeenth Full Moon

I've tried to avoid you,
Punctually I reviewed you
More and more fuckin' beautiful
I am on the road with the moon in my eyes

Any more certainties,
Everything is changed here around.
But in which other place could I go?
But in which other place would I have to be?

Visit Steel Flowers page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.