The face of doubt, stuck in a drought
Thirty miles shy of the pouring rain
I got the peddle stuck to the floor
Constant right turns driving me insane

Oh, I'm running in circles
With hopes held up so high
My skeleton's got faster legs than me
So he always looks behind

To see where I hide
Can you see where I hide?

The rain keeps on pouring
But it doesn't like to hit my face
I'm all alone and I'm fading
My mind is trying so hard to relocate

Oh, I'm running in circles
With hopes held up so high
My skeleton's got faster legs than me
So he always looks behind

To see where I hide
Can you see where I hide?

Don't stop ever, yeah

I can't keep up with my habits
And I can't keep up with my time
And I can't keep up with my reasons
I need more rain to help me clear my mind

I'm running in circles
With hopes held up so high
My skeleton's got faster legs than me
So he always looks behind

To see where I hide
Can you see where I hide?
Can you see where I hide?
Yeah
