Saturday night and I'm looking for something
The cocaine's lifted but my heart's still thumping
Was it something that I said?
You're still running 'round my head
Was it something that I said?
You're still running 'round my head.

Friday comes in a frosty morning
There's blood in my hair, I'm drunk and I'm yawning
I can't remember what you said
But you're still running 'round my head
I can't remember what you said
But you're still running 'round my head.

And will I wait a lifetime?
Will I wait until the end?
Will I wait until the stars don't shine?
Will I touch that perfect face again?
Will I touch that perfect face again?

Monday comes and I'm earning a living
I'm taking back what I've been giving
Until something someone says
Gets you running 'round my head
Yes, there's something someone says
Gets you running round my head.

It's Friday now and I'm heavy with money
I'm just like a bee I'm looking for honey
Until I remember what you said
'Cos you're still running 'round my head
Yes, I remember what you said
Maybe I'd be better dead

And can I wait a lifetime?
Can I wait until the end?
Can I wait until the stars don't shine?
Can I touch that perfect face again?
Can I touch that perfect face again?

I will wait for you a lifetime

I will wait until the end
I will wait until the stars wont shine
I will touch that perfect face again
I will touch your perfect face again.
