Pictures don't lie
You were easy on the eye
Easy on the eye in your green camaro

But your arms were crossed
And you look lost
You look lost, a golden arrow

With no where to aim but down
You never soar before
You hit the ground
Something always
Weighs down on you

And I am the same
I share blood and bone and name
A deep blue I can't tame or keep in line

With nowhere to aim but down
I never soar before
I hit the ground
Something always
Weighs down on me
