

Chrysolite

"Boy Turned Machine"

Visit "Boy Turned Machine" on MotoLyrics.com

Silence
You've broken me
Said girl whats left in a faded memory?
Like the words to a poem and our favourite song
You make rules up as you go
And you leave me breathless no more Michelle
At this time you are not my world
We are so incomplete
All that we dreamed came crashing down on me

So I'm thinking as we're leaving
Just one kiss before you go
Your heart has turned black with disease so
Take back what you need

I'm dealing with the empathy
Remarks you made about us they are killing me
Just like the thought of him inside of you

So im thinking as we're leaving
Just one kiss before you go
Your heart has turned black with disease so
Take back what you need

Dear mitch you motherfucker i dare say
She will wake up and leave you one day
Until then, you'll be fueling a fire so wild and free
The sole inspiration for this boy now turned machine

Visit Chrysolite page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.