"When You Are Gone"

I'm lying in your bed, but you are not around here I hear your voice on my mind, remember how it used to be
I look through the window, and I see the darkness in the air
I just wanted to see you, but right now I don't care

If you wanna run away,
So get the fuck out of here
I won't follow you, and now you are waiting for me When I came to this place, I feel you where still the same
You never listen to me and now you are lost again

You know when you are gone
I won't stay alone
You started this war, now I'll throw the bomb
And I'll make this blow away
My party is startin' now, and I won't sleep today
