Trial by fire, to find out the hard way what it's like without you cuz even my best intentions go astray

If passion can drive us home (passion can drive) guided by voices in our heads can't make sense of this (can't make sence)
So never repeat a word of what was said, you cuz there's nothing quite like you, nothing quite like you!

We could be one in the same, when we can't even get
the words right
I've made my decisions here and now

And I'll burn my lungs apart till you just fall silent, and to top it all we can do nothing at all Till even my best intentions cause you pain
I know I won't last with you cause there's nothing quite like you Nothing quite like you!

the words right,
I've made my decisions
Here and now, why don't I listen to my fears

I'm hiding in signs and hopes that won't fade we'll figure it out somehow, someday if I can I 'll write till you are out of my side I'll drive if you can't hardly wait to fall back into my arms

We could be one in the same when we can't even get
the words right
I've made my decisions here and now
Why don't I listen to my fears

I'm shedding the signs and hopes that won't fade

we'll figure out somehow, someday
It's not fair, it's not right, please take me home tonight
