(kim henry)

You'd drop my hand to change my view Break and bend till i lose to you Drawing conclusions color in what you miss
You paint this picture of me just two eyes and a kiss

Now you can't take back everything you said
I won't change my mind till you lose your headstrong
ways

You kill with your words then bring flowers to the grave
But i'm not there anymore pulling petals in a daze

Now you can't take back everything you said
ways
Now you can't take back everything you said
ways

Listen to your voice of reason drown me in your storm
I'm calm under the waves i'm strong

Now you can't take back everything you said
ways
