Song by the band also named World Party, which can be found on their album entitled "Private Revolution"

Can you hear the music
It's coming from the forest where we used to live.
Can you hear the laughing
Coming from the clearing at the bottom of the hill?
Ba-ba-ba-bah
Climb the hill and see the creatures
Run about their world.

World party - How can I say no?
No Party - You know I've got to go
Go Party - to a world party tonight.

I'm going to ask a dolphin
See if you can find a tiger
whose eyes are still alight
With your little head in his mouth
everything's gonna be alright.
I hear theres going to be a harvest
Where every creature gets a share of life and food and light.
Ba-ba-ba-bah
Unless we learn we're the dumbest creatures
that ever walked the world

Are you going?
Yes we're going to a world party.
Well, how can I say no?
Yes we're going to a world party.
You know I've got to go.
Yes we're going to a world party.
You know, you know, you know, he
Pa-party
Pa-pa-party

This party's in the mountains
And in the fields and on the shore and at the bottom of the sea
In the desert, in the marshes underground up your tree

Ba-ba-ba-bah
And out in space you can hear the creatures
sing about their world

Are you going?
Yes we're going to a world party,
Well, how can I say no?
Yes we're going to a world party.
You know I've got to go.
Yes we're going to a world party.
Yes we're going to a world party.
Yes we're going to a world party.

Yes we're going to a world party.
