When the lights go out
And the world stops spinning me circles
When the day is through
I could lay on the grass all night
Counting the stars with you

Spring flings turn to Summer love
Let's skip the Winter
And lay out here forever
And when we've counted every single star
We'll go back, we'll go back to the start

When they play their games
Say our love's just another silly phase
We can leave this town
Take a ride on a West bound train
Until the tracks run out

Spring flings turn to Summer love
Let's skip the Winter
And lay out here forever
And when we've counted every single star
We'll go back, we'll go back to the start

When the snow starts to fly
We'll look outside and wonder where the Summer went
And how it flew right by
When the ground fades to white
We'll look into each other's eyes
And remember all the good times
All the good times
All the good times

Spring flings turn to Summer love
Let's skip the Winter
And lay out here forever
And when we've counted every single star
We'll go back, we'll go back to the start

Spring flings turn to Summer love
Let's skip the Winter

And lay out here forever
And when we've counted every single star
We'll go back, we'll go back to the start
