I can see your pain
Hiding beneath your stains
While your sins keep adding on
Trying to stall your gains

When you think it can't get any worse
The lower your hopeful voice
I'm here waiting for your time
To tell you it'll be alright

I will always be right where you are
I will always be right where you are

I wish I can be
Your strength, your hope, your smile
Please just let go and be who you are

I will never stray away too far
Always searching, looking before you fall
I will never stray away too far
Always searching, looking before you fall

Looking before you fall
Looking before you fall
