How'd we end up alone? You've got someone at home:
the one you'll love till you die. So do I.

Don't forget me. Don't forget me.

It's so easy to fall. I'll follow you down the hall.
Staying strong is a fight, though I try.

Don't forget me. Don't forget what we could've had.

Stand my ground,
though I wanna stay with you tonight,
I'd sit back down if you'd come around at other times.
I promise now that I
won't forget the best thing I've never had,
won't forget the best thing I've never had,
won't forget the best thing I've never had.

We could sneak underground. Speak, but don't make a sound.
But I won't let her down, down, down, down.

Though you get me like no one gets me,
Don't forget me. Don't forget what we could've had.

Stand my ground,
though I wanna stay with you tonight,
I'd sit back down if you'd come around at other times.
I promise now that I
won't forget the best thing I've never had,
won't forget the best thing I've never had,
won't forget the best thing I've never had.

All I need is a holiday from my vocation as a saint.
Hearts are beating fast; we're the same.
That is why I can't come back again.

Don't forget me, don't forget me.
You've got everything I need.
This night will always be with me.

Stand my ground, I'd sit back down, I promise now that I
won't forget the best thing I've never had,
won't forget the best thing I've never had,
won't forget the best thing that I have.
