is where she feels at ease

it's written in a code

she can't read

it haunts her
and how

how can there be hope

when she lives it out in fear

on the edge

she's wanting
it drove

drove her to despair

not knowing

which way

to turn
a mental barrier

people comfort her

through the wasteland

deep within her mind

can she break it out

while a trap unfolds
she prays

falls down on her knees

she writes them full of hope believes in them

and they help her
they drove
drove her to the edge

not knowing

which way

to turn
a mental barrier

through the wasteland

they drove

drove her to the despair

not knowing

which way

to turn
a mental barrier

she will fight it out

till her straight gives out should she flow

like a goldfish in a bowl

she doesn't see it out

her solitary world
