Where are we now, where are we
I can't see you through the glistening trees
I can see the stars above us in the night

Follow my path, it's just ahead
Beware the brush, there is no rush

Open your eyes
Just look don't see
Just look don't see
Just look don't see

It won't be long before you find the way
Just try to see the night through day
If stars light night then look for clouds
That catch their shadows to betray

Look past the trees, ever to free
Look past them now and you'll see how

It won't be long before you find the way
Just try to see the night through day
If stars light night then look for clouds
That catch their shadows to betray

Find the way
Night through day
Find the way
Night through day

Follow me now, follow me

And the stars are dimmed by the clouds
There's no more light

Find the way
Night through day
Find the way
Night through day

It won't be long before you find the way

Just try to see the night through day
If stars light night then look for clouds
That catch their shadows to betray
