

Clare Bowditch & The New Slang

"The Start of War"

Visit "The Start of War" on MotoLyrics.com

Big men talking all of the time
And none of us are sure what they are saying
Take these children by the hand:
Remind them what is is to be just playing

Every day we are fighting wars with people
Who did not cause the start of war.
The start of war, the start of war.

The pen is mightier than the sword,
Still we're spilling blood all over the words.
They're words.
As the children say goodbye to their Dads,
Do the news people weep into their hands?
It's Absurd.

Every day we are fighting wars with people
Who did not cause the start of war.
The start of war, the start of war.

Visit Clare Bowditch & The New Slang page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.