All voiceless consonants are unaspirated and tenuous unless otherwise marked with " ` ", and in the case with "k", "q", and in the case with "tz", "ts".

So the "t" is unaspirated, like in the English word "stop", the "k" is like in "skate", and the "p" is like in "spot".

The "t`", "p`", and "q" are aspirated, like in "top", "pot", and "kite" respectively. There aren't any "p`s" in this song, though. The "gh" is pronounced like the French "r".
