It was never your face on the pictures I never had
There was never your place or mine, words I never said
Did he leave you hanging?
Did you make a real big scene?

I was never your lover and I'm not your trampoline

It was never your name on the postcards I never send
It was never our lives in a song that I never penned
Did you say I'll show him
Who gets caught in between?

I was never your lover and I'm not your trampoline
Never your lover and I'm not your trampoline

You never place a call to a number you never had There'll never be a time we can say split it all in half
Did he bring you down?
Did he make you scream?

I was never your lover and I'm not your trampoline
Never your lover and I'm not your trampoline
Oh, I'm never your lover and I'm not your trampoline
