I can't get enough
of livin' in the city I get off the bus at Dexter and Denny
the sun's comin' up over the lake to my east and I feel the love in the rythm of the music of the street, yeah and no one is gonna take that away from me so I pick up a Real Change paper as I walk on down the street yeah, because

vagabonds and troubadours
I built this city on punk rock cores and I for one cannot ignore the facts, yeah so we will make music
til no one refuses
we will take our airwaves back yeah, come on

in the jet city of love northwest in the evergreen state people can't get enough of livin in the darkness and the rain but when the sun comes out the streets are filled with songs and people playin it loud so the whole world can sing along, yeah and the cops go screamin by on the 99 there's a man with a smile and his guitar on and he's holdin' a sign and it says
