Let's go!

[Verse]

You scream your lungs out every night. Your parents blame you for everything and all of your friends abandoned you. All you ever really wanted was attention. Sitting in the darkness of your room. Waiting for a saviour to come. Don't you worry my dear. A saviour will apper when the time is right.

[Chorus]

Don't take away the only chance you have in life. You never know what the future may hold. Live your life to it's full attention. It may seem like Hell, right now, but don't you worry, I promise you that it'll get better.

[Verse 2]

Don't make it seem like it's the end for you. Never give up on yourself. Don't listen to what your parents say. Forget about the ones that've abandoned you. Just move on with your life. They may hate you, but in the end millions of people will love you. Put that razor blade down, and listen to my words. You're beautiful in every way. You're talent and you know it's true. Now go out there and show this world exactly who you are.

[Chorus]

Don't take away the only chance you have in life. You never know what the future may hold. Live your life to it's full attention. It may seem like Hell, right now, but don't you worry, I promise you that it'll get better. [x2]
