

Six Ball "'98"

Visit "'98" on MotoLyrics.com

I see you finally got what you want
I see my weekend's getting worse
I can't remember the last time I felt this way
And now, I think this is the first
Well you don't have to believe what I say
Because it makes no difference anyway
I know exactly what I need
I don't need your apologies
I just need some space today
I can write another song about the same old thing
Because that's all that life will bring
Well, I don't know just what I need
I don't need your apologies
I know I just need you today
I see you finally got what you want
I feel the rain start to fall
I know that it's all my fault
I'll just keep away from you,
that's all
I see you finally got what you want
I see my life is getting worse
I can't remember the last time I felt this way
But I know this ain't the first
I can write another song about the same old thing
Because that's all my life will bring
Well, now I know just what you need
You don't need more apologies
You should be yourself today

Visit Six Ball page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.