It's such a pity baby that I trusted you

You might have known the things you said would make me blue

I really care, and I must wear your ways

Oh baby baby won't you try?

An' I don't wanna say goodbye.

It's such a pity baby the things you wanted me to think were true

And all the time the way we used to be in love has fallen through

It's not the same, and I suppose that I'm to blame

I thought you really wanted me

Oh baby won't you try and see?

That it's alright, the things you said

The things you did I would love you

If only you will say "don't go"

And show me why I need you so.

INSTRUMENTAL

I really care, and I must wear your ways

So baby won't you try and see ?

An' I don't wanna say goodbye.

It's such a pity baby, it hurts to think of how you used to feel

And all those pretty words you said no longer seems so real

What have I done to make you turn to someone new

Oh baby tell me what to do

I'm crying 'cause I'm loving you.
