"My Wintery Embrace"

Yes, your time is here
Weep not for soon all sorrow
Shall come to an end
My eyes lick upon yours
Relief it comes in waves
At the touch I have waited so long
To walk beside you hand in claw
On hidden paths of ice
Day this is the one that you knew would come
I know you wished for it since your birth
All you humans living in denial of me
Will all one day come to me
Damnation awaits you
At all other destinations
Save this one
Your hand on my shoulder
Let me taste you
All teeth and bones come to me once more
What you've gone to countless times
When once you still breathed
In the air of those that live
Familiar touch of one
I am the coldness that you felt each night
And now we are together eternally
