You're like a firefly, trying hard to give a sign
And when it's getting there, you shine a light
Everybody always worked hard and we were pleased with ourselves
And someone took away our hungry hearts

I can never do it to you do to you
Seems so easy just to make it right make it right
I think it's time for something new now something new
So I keep looking for a firefly
Just to make it right, just to make it right
Just to make it right, just to make it

Two sides to what I see, can't stick to this belief
I'm in the middle of conspiracies
One tells me he can be tied to what I feel is right
The other turns his face away from me

I can never do it to you do it to you
It seems so easy just to make it right make it right
I think it's time for something new now something new
So I keep looking for my firefly
Just to make it right, just to make it right
Just to make it right, just to make it
