Who what, the black nation, I love it
Ohh, woh, woh, oh, woh, woh
From di day mi born
Mi did dun know sey

My color a di first, I nuh last
So how yuh expect I
Fi duh certain things
Ohh woh woh, oh woh woh

Black woman and child, yeh, yeh, yeah
For you I really have so much love
Dollar bills and coins will fade away
They could never make I so proud

Black woman and child, yeh, yeh, yeah
For you I really have so much love
Dollar bills and coins will fade away
They could never make I so proud

Motherland Africa still remain so fine
Empresses and emperors living from in those time
I know you are the first to give birth unto mankind
Now let me say oh, the Earth Queen Omega is divine

Take I to Zion, I give thy praise
That's where my covenant will be always
How have you been going through those stage
Of being away for many days

Black woman and child, yeh, yeh, yeah
For you I really have so much love
Dollar bills and coins will fade away
They could never make I so proud

Black woman and child, yeh, yeh, yeah
For you I really have so much love
Dollar bills and coins will fade away
They could never make I so proud

Who knows? Who will trod upon the road
Just to make things great

You and yuh children, I see them in front yuh face
I say keep them close, as you increase their faith
Marcus Garvey dun say, "A him save the future fi days"

Ohh, natural in your choice
In your way to your needs
You were born of the one to conceive
You and yuh child go smooth as the breeze

Black woman and child, yeh, yeh, yeah
For you I really have so much love
Dollar bills and coins will fade away
They could never make I so proud

Black woman and child, yeh, yeh, yeah
For you I really have so much love
Dollar bills and coins will fade away
They could never make I so proud

Who are those standing at your door
Dressed in Ethiopian clothes coming more and more
Oh, what a lovely day, the blessing is so pure
Someone conceive today, of this I am sure
Eh heh, yeah, from top
