Well it's obvious
You don't love me anymore
I could tell today by the carefree way that you walked right out the door
So I'm going down to the bar to drink away my pain
And for the first time in a long time I wont hear you complain

Chorus:

And your beat asset was always your rear end
And I might get lost in the memories every now and then
And thought I love you more than ever
I wont make you stay Cause girl you look so good every time your Walking away

Well now her butt
It was the perfect size and shape
And it made up for her ugly attitude and her aura of disgrace
And she's done me wrong
For long enough I think Hell she logged plenty of miles just driving me to drink

Chorus

Now you have done me wrong again
In this romance
We could've had something special but you never gave it a chance
And if you want to do me one favor
To help ease the pain
I'll take a five by eight of your best asset
Up in a picture frame

Chorus
